POLITICAL PARADE

By CLEM WHITAKER

State Railroad Commissioner Justus Craemer, who has a sharp sense of humor, as well as a lively interest in things political, has raised the question whether Secretary of War Stimson's recent order banning men in the armed forces from running for public office may not be construed as prohibiting Commander-in-Chief Franklin D. Roosevelt from seeking re-election.

If the order applies to General Douglas MacArthur, argues the redoubtable Mr. Craemer, then certainly it ought to apply, also, to General MacArthur's superior officer, Mr. Roosevelt, who is commander of all United States forces.

Craemer, while admitting that his point may be passed over lightly in Washington, uses it, nonetheless, to spotlight, a somewhat serious discussion as to when the President ceases to be President and becomes Commander-in Chief—a question which may turn out to be a considerable factor in the 1944 presidential campaign.

In a letter to Drew Pearson, Mr. Craemer chides the columnist - commentator for saying in a recent radio broadcast that Mr. Roosevelt talked to the coal miners as their Commander-in - Chief. Craemer points out that Mr. Roosevelt is not Commander-in-Chief of the civilian population, mut only of the armed forces and says he believes it is important that the distinction should be drawn, as few Americans would care to oppose their Commander-in-Chief during war-time, but many Americans might be inclined to take issue with a President seeking a fourth term in office.

While the layman might be inclined to consider this a distinction without a difference unless he pondered its implications, dispatches from Washington indicate that the dual title of President and Commander-in-Chief is figuring quite prominently in cloak room discussions of presidential possibilities.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, for example, has been busily booming General MacArthur as the best GOP bet for President—and Mr. Vandenberg makes a virtue of what Mr. Craemer considers an unfortunate popular misconception. Declaring that MacArthur should be drafted for the job, even though he has emphatically declined to be considered. Vandenberg argues that "The people will really be voting for a Commander-in-Chief, rather than a President, and there are no credentials equal to MacArthur's on that score."

Going still farther in his use of the Commander-in-Chief approach, Senator Vandenberg insists that the drafting of MacArthur by the Republican Convention would dispose of the old argument about swapping horses in the middle of the stream "because our top General would simply move up one final peg to become Commander-in-Chief.

Many a political campaign has been won on an apt slogan, or the turn of a phrase so all this verbal jousting about the term Commander-in-Chief isn't to be dismissed too lightly. The boys have something there, but they don't quite agree on what to do with it!

Phone Manager Is Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting

William B. Williams, division manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company was guest speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon Tuesday explaining "Public Utilities Work in War-time."

A large part in the successful prosecution of the war devolves upon transportation and communications. "To further the means of extending communications the Bell company laboratories," he said, "are continually inventing and producing new items such as throat microphones and the bomber telephone system."

The telephone companies have been called upon to install new systems for the many army and other training camps. A new underground transcontinental system has recently been installed.

The Signal Corps of the army has been assisted in its training program by the telephone companies. Handling of the ever multiplying number of long distance calls has become one of the chief problems of the service, and the army flash calls from the many observation posts are taken care of by the phone company.

The scarcity of material he said has presented another obstacle which has had to be hurdled by great strides made in conserving critical materials.

Jack Murdock did the honor of presenting the speaker.

A group of Los Gatos Kiwanians visited the local club and were introduced by their president, Axel Granstrom.

Next week the program announced for this Tuesday, will be presented—an all musical one by the Campbell High school orchestra directed by Kenneth McDonell.

Choir to Present Hour of Music

The choir of the First Congregational Church of San Jose will present 50 minutes of music at the Campbell Congregational church Sunday morning, May 23, giving selections from Mendelssohn's "Elijah."

Soloists with a chorus of 27 voices are: Donna G. Freenor, soprano; Katherine Lee, Christie Lyle, contraltos; L. B. Cain, Francis Freenor, bass; Dennis Bennett, tenor; Jean Stirling Long, organist; Donna G. Freenor, director.

- Items In Brief -

While visiting friends in San Francisco last week, Mrs. L. J. Levenberg was taken ill and is at the Children's hospital for treatment. Her son Budd Levenberg and family, and her husband visited her Sunday and report her condition as improving.

Mrs. Percy Dunlap was over from Watsonville Wednesday on business connected with her property on Alice avenue.

Harold Gardner of San Jose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valentire Gardner of Campbell, a director of the San Jose junior chamber of commerce, was elected to the office of vice-president of district No. 4 of junior chambers at a convention held in Pasadena on the week end. The district includes clubs in Redwood City, Santa Cruz, Los Gatos and San Jose.

P. F. C. Robert J. Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Stephens, Rt. 1, Box 612F, has arrived at Scott Field, Ill. Army Air Forces Techincal Training Command post where he will receive an intensive course in radio operating and mechanics to fit him for duty as a member of a fighting bomber crew.

A new additions to the Navy's list of fighting men is Roy James Goodwin, ward of Miss T. Goodwin, North First street, who recently arrived at the U. S. Naval Training station at Farragut, Idaho, to begin his recruit training.

A daughter, Betty Jane, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Cleo P. Moore, May 4, at O'Connor sanitarium.

Garden Forum to Have May Festival

A number of residents of this community are planning to attend the luncheon meeting of the Garden Forum to be held at the Hotel Sainte Claire, San Jose, on Saturday, May 22, from 12:30 to 3 p. m.

Walter Bradley, state mineralogist, will be guest speaker and his talk will be the fifth in the series of illustrated lectures on "Conserving California's Natural Resources for War Purposes."

Following the lecture, a delightful program of excellent music, sprightly Maytime dances and a profusion of rainbow-hued blossoms will contribute to a colorful May Festival.

Lovely May-baskets will center each table, with miniature replicas of the same as favors, marking each place.

A large committee is aiding Mrs. Bertha Rice, general chairman of the day, in plans to make this May Festival a memorable and enjoyable event.

WAAC Will be Guest Speaker at Club Meeting

The Country Woman's club will hold its last regular meeting of the year in the club rooms on May 17 when Lt. Marian R. Jevne of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps will be the speaker. She will talk on the training program for the WAACS and what they are doing to aid the war effort.

Mrs. W. R. Morgan, chairman of the day, will introduce the speaker. Lt. Jevne is with the San Jose Recruiting office and this will be the first opportunity for Campbell ladies to meet a WAAC officer.

There will also be a short movie given by the Santa Clara County Tuberculosis association which has never before been shown in Campbell.

A group of musical numbers will be presented by students from Campbell Union High school.

Assisting Mrs. Morgan in plans for the afternoon are Mrs. Monica Parr, Mrs. Ira Grim, Mrs. George Burrow, and Mrs. M. F. Hughes.

Club's Spring Party Is Highly Successful Event

Outstanding in club events of the season was the successful benefit party hostessed by the Country Woman's club ladies Friday afternoon. More than 130 women from the community attended the skillfully arranged war function.

Twenty-five tables were filled for bridge while many ladies enjoyed the "garden" in a corner of the hall where groupings of lawn furniture within a vine-covered white picket fence made a clever and enjoyable setting for those wishing to sew and visit. Artistic arrangements of bamboo and Paul Scarlet roses completed the flower decorations while the committee members in colorful flowered pinafore aprons added to the gayety of the occasion.

Tea was served at 4 o'clock the proceeds going to various war organizations and activities. Although almost all of the club members are active in Red Cross, U. S. O. and Aircraft Warning service, the club as a whole took this opportunity to combine service with pleasure and enjoy a social afternoon with their friends.

Taking charge of the affair was a committee headed by Mrs. George E. Jeffers and including Mesdames Emmet L. Farnham, Ralph H. Hyde, Willard H. Van Dyke, Sue Boyce, Joseph Agostinho, Roy Magnuson, C. P. Klassen, Anthony Jurras, Guy E. Farley, Ira R. Abbott, and A. D. Rice.

Campbell High Trackmen Win Over Los Gatos

Winning three clean sweeps and eight firsts, Campbell High school unlimited track men overwhelmed Los Gatos by a 76 to 46 score when the rival teams met here Tuesday afternoon.

Coach Walter Hill's boys took all three point-winning places in the 100-yard dash, broad jump, and the hop, step and jump. They took first in seven events and tied for first in an eighth.

Roy Van Gorkom starred in the meet by taking first in the 100 and the 220 and running the anchor lap in the relay. Also outstanding was Don Hutchinson, B division, who won over his unlimited competitors, taking first in the broad jump, and hop, step and jump. Carl Field ran second in the 440, and Fred Frevert won the 880, stealing the race from the Los Gatos man who had beaten him in the mile earlier in the meet.

Richard Lloyd, B division, took second in the high hurdles against unlimited competition and Al McQueen took first in the low hurdles.

Surprise of the meet came when Joe Benevento, who hadn't practiced with the trackmen because baseball took up his time, entered and

Minute-Man Flag Raised at High School Today

Two months ago students of Campbell Union High school started a bond and stamps drive for a Minute-Man flag and today the flag was raised at the school with appropriate ceremonies.

Ninety per cent of students have to buy War bonds and stamps regularly in order for the school to receive the flag and keep it flying. During the first three weeks a school average of 98 per cent was maintained and in the remaining weeks 100 per cent average was maintained.

On April 14 a "Buy a Jeep" campaign was launched to raise $900 in one week to buy one jeep and on April 21, surpassing all expectations, $17-090, or 18 jeeps was the result of the drive to help further the war effort.

With the raising of the Minute-Man flag today also rises the hopes of success in the school's newest War bond sales contest. Until May 28 classes will compete for a ride in an army tank. Figures for the year's purchases of each second period class will be totaled to determine the winner and on the final day in the drive the victors will be given a ride in a tank from Campbell to San Jose.

This will be the last drive of the school term, but more and bigger drives will be in order when school resumes in the fall. The community is justly proud of the achievements of Campbell High students in their war efforts.

New Red Cross Classes to Start In Campbell

Classes for making Red Cross surgical dressings are being organized in Campbell, with registration taking place this morning and tomorrow, Friday, from 9 a. m. to 12 a. m. in the Red Cross room.

Work will begin next week under the tutelage of several women who have taken lessons in San Jose. To begin with it is planned to have one day and two evening classes depending upon the number of registrations, with a possibility of more if needed.

Any women who are interested and can register at the room tomorrow are requested to do so, but otherwise contact Mrs. E. L. Farnham, phone Campbell 3666.

Many ladies have expressed a desire to help in this very essential work but could not go to San Jose headquarters. As the war progresses calls for dressings are rapidly mounting.

Hugh G. Nelson, Jr., who was down from Seattle on leave from the navy, was welcomed into the membership of the Congregational church Sunday following his acceptance some weeks ago. He is now stationed in San Francisco.

RARIN' TO GO

Our youngsters are "rarin' to go" back to the farms this year. And if they are properly housed, fed, and chaperoned, what could be more wholesome both mentally and physically, than living for a few weeks or months where the roosters are morning matin, and where the rich smell of "humus" is the appetizer.

In Great Britain, every county now has its War Agricultural Committee, which trains boys and girls who live in the country to be farmers, through the medium of "Young Farmers' Clubs." Over 20,000 children between the ages of 10 and 21 now belong to it. One group produced enough onions, carrots and beets to serve 400 school children for a year. This is hands across the sea for our 4H and Future Farmers clubs whose intelligent young farmers have long been America's pride in youthful farming.

Man and boy, woman and girl, if we have green thumbs, we should magic up the vegetables this year that will fill the inner man!

WAR-TIME MANNERS

How's for a "clean-your-plate" dining club as a new war-time activity? No list of members would be available, and more remarkable still—no dues would be asked! The only duty imposed would be leaving your plate clean! Of course, Emily Post has drilled us to leave the last few bites of everything as a mark of good manners. But the Army Post should dictate our manners now!

War time is thrift time. We are setting aside regular sums each month for our tax-time savings account, for War Bonds, for our regular savings accounts. In this, we are aided and abetted by our statewide banking system. But there's no one to help us be thrifty eaters. Only we, ourselves, can make eating habits match monetary saving.

How about that last bite of entree on the dinner plate? The rest of that good hot biscuit? That wee pat of butter? Well—don't take more than you'll eat in the first place,, and if the restaurant serves you more than you want, ask them to remove a portion! But once it's set before you, exercise the moral courage to finish off the last tidbit with zest!

Manners after all, are correct behavior under given conditions. It's good manners to be thrifty now. Get a real down on waste. Save everything. Make wastefullness bad manners!

BATH IN 1946!

Foresighted San Diego realizes that war-time population figures have shattered all previous "curves." As aircraft workers poured into this district, drinks of water poured out, until the city engineers discovered that far from having enough water for a quarter of a century to come, they'd do well to furnish baths to all and sundry, come 1946!

Counting baths and drinks ahead, the city captured 1,474,900,000 gallons of water during the winter rains this year, completing a reservoir on San Vicente Creek just in time for the downfall.

Might be a good plan if California looked over its water supply state-wide, with reference to new population figures, taking a leaf from San Diego's foresight. We are babying new victory gardens now, as well as quenching the thirst of thousands more inhabitants. And we all want to look forward to a bath, come 1946! Applause for San Diego's study of its problem.

HANDBOOK FOR EUROPE

Handbook for Europe is a new volume got out by Goebbels for the education of Germans in "Europe for the Europeans." This pictures Europe as a happy family of united nations (with England naturally shut out) living together in peace and prosperity under the sunshine of Hitler's smile!

The Handbook has a foreword by Ribbentrop, arch Nazi of all Nazis. The book ends with—"At the conclusion of this gigantic struggle, a new Europe will stand, shaping its destinies without interference from the outside, allowing all European nations a fair and worthy place." Adolf, when the war is over, you won't have enough of a smile to be sunshine for anybody!

BUY U.S. WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

Sunday will be obesrved in all parts of the Nation as "I Am An American Day." Special honor will be paid to Americans who have become naturalized citizens during the year.

It is a day for everyone to consider the real meaning of "I Am An American" and the following article beautifully portrays the things which should make glad and proud every American.

"This Is My America" was published by the Washington Post under copyright which has been released so that it may be read by all America.

This Is My America

BY LIEUT. COL. WILLIAM A. BREWER

THIS IS MY LAND, THIS IS AMERICA.

Her waters and her soil have nourished me, her air I have breathed, her trees and her hills have sheltered and inspired me.

I am one with her; her grasses and her minerals are flesh of my flesh and bone of my bone; and the sweet flesh of my ancestors has nourished her, and the blood of my ancestors, fighting to keep her free, has watered her broad acres.

I am all hers and she is all mine.

Her flag is my flag; in it is not just what I see, but what I am; when I look at her flag I see only bunting and colors; but when I look into her flag I see wonderful things.

I see the breadth of her, from the spume rising where rollers of the Atlantic sweep into the rocks of Maine to the Yucca Bells ringing vespers on the hills hanging over San Diego.

I see the height of her, white spires rising through New England elms, and a pueblo throned on a red rock mesa in New Mexico, and the clouded summits of Shasta and of Washington.

I see the depth of her, the carved chasms of the roots of the skyscrapers of Manhattan, and the root cellar under the sod shacks on the prairies of Dakota, and the sweating rock a mile down in the Argonaut Mine at Jackson.

I see the blue waters of Pend Oreille, and the brown waters of the Missouri at St. Charles, and the white waters of Yosemite, and the red waters of the Tennessee, and the green waters of the Potomac; and all that they bring to the land, and to the people; and all that they take away.

Waking, I hear the birdsongs in Wisconsin elms, and drifting off to sleep I hear the longtailed chat whistling at the moon above the black deeps of Tahoe, and the sea-mew piping the sun down beyond the Golden Gate.

I see the age of her, too; the Dinosaur tracks in the stone in the prison yard at Carson City, the ferns imbedded in coal in the rich black heart of Pennsylvania, the ring upon ring storying splendor in the redwoods in the Trinity Forest; and, more recently, the trees of the Indians at Canandaigua and El Reno; the westward wheel tracks of the 49'ers, and the beacons of the sky paths of the airliners.

All these I see when I look into the flag, and in it, too, I see the men and women, my kind of men and women; their roots deep in old cultures by which they won their way to the light, and their heads high as they stand up and face the light and know that it is good.

I see the children, with the sweet soft faces on which no story yet is written; and the old people with their faces on which are written mysteries and heroic poems.

I see the pageant of America's people, led by the lordly and colorful ones, but mostly Joe and Mary and Tom and Harry and Beth, the ones the papers don't write about, the ones that never are told about in the Histories, because they just live and work and give their hearts' warmth to keep America alive.

I see the starry few, Abe of Springfield and Tom Jefferson and Teddy and Steve Decatur, the duelling man, and old Andy Jackson, puckery and fresh to the taste as a mountain plum, and Henry Thoreau bringing the world into the confines of Walden Pond.

I see these people and these things as a part of the flag and of the land, as I am part of the flag and of the land; and I see the land and the flag as part of them, as the flag and the land are a part of me.

I see America and I hear America, I hear the music of America.

I hear the winds and clouds making a great harp of the heart, and I hear the melody of America played on that harp. The mountains bow and the hills leap at the melody which no words can tell.

I hear America in song and the song is good, the voices of the waters and the winds and the riveting machines and the saws, the voices of the men and women singing, the men singing the good spirits in their hearts after their work, and the women singing to their children while they put them to sleep.

I hear America in song and the song is good; I see America in the light and the light is good. I touch America, the warm, rich soil of America, and the red soil, and the sandy soil, and the loamy soil; and the soil is good.

THIS IS MY AMERICA, and these are my people and these are my heartstrings on which the song is played; they are mine and I am theirs.

What Is Inflation?

Do you have excess cash?

You will answer, "No." But the fact remains that you do. For almost every wage earner these days has an income, in checkbook or pocketbook, well above the cost of his living, taxes, insurance and debt repayments.

You never actually "bid" against anybody for a porterhouse steak, but when you take the spending of all average Americans as a group, it's a different story. So it is important that excess money be saved rather than used collectively to bid up prices. If it is spent, instead of saved, prices soar. . . That's inflation.

Ideally, it should be invested in Government securities during the Second War Loan.

"They give their lives . . . You lend your money."

WOMEN AT WAR

Augusta

Augusta Travers—you know, the one who runs the little hat shop down on Main Street—she's always been dead set against gambling in any form. Never will forget when I was a kid and she found little Hammy, her youngest nephew, playing marbles for keeps out back of the shop. Took it on herself to give him a whaling and point out the evils of gambling. She's a strict woman, Augusta, real strict. Good as gold, of course. But mighty set against the lighter things of life.

Well, so you could have knocked us all over with a feather when Augusta started her gambling campaign for War Bonds and Stamps, right out in the window of her shop. First she got hold of the photographs of every boy here in town who's joined up, and pasted them on a big board in the window, with little American flags at the corners. Half the town was down there watching her do it. She left the middle empty. Then she brought out a placard she'd had printed up and put it in the middle, and this is what it said: "These are the Local Boys who have enlisted in America's War—They are betting that you are buying War Bonds and Stamps—Hitler and the Japs are betting you aren't—Place your bets inside."

My wife couldn't wait to get herself down there and inside Augusta's shop to see what in the wide world had happened to her, turning right around about gambling like that. You know my wife. She kind of likes to talk. She went right up to Augusta and said, "Augusta Travers, seems like something's come over you. Why, I never thought I'd see you running a gambling campaign in your own shop."

Mean to tell me it's a gamble whether this country buys enough bonds to win this war?" Augusta asked.

I forgot to say. Wasn't just a hat my wife brought home. Was a hat and a $25 bond.

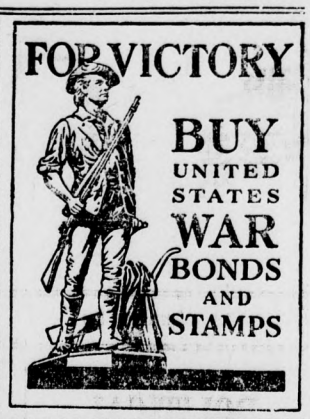

(Story from an actual report in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Remember: It takes both—taxes and War Bonds (and more War Bonds)—to run the War and combat inflation! U. S. Treasury Department

THE BOOK MARK

MYSTERY NEWS

Unintentionally, be assured, you mystery fans, you have been neglected recently, and the latest about new publications has been kept from you long enough. It has been extremely difficult to make a decision about the book which we talk about in this column each week for the reason that there are so many important ones; to select just one is no joke. Often I feel that those left unmentioned are the ones you want to hear about.

Before me here on the desk are copies of four of the most exciting mysteries that have made the book shelves in many a moon. Topping the list we have that well established spinner of "Case" mysteries, Erle Stanley Gardner, with his right-off-the-press "The Case of the Buried Clock." Yes, Perry Mason does it again—with Della Street and Paul Drake of course. To mention just a few of the incidents that make the case baffling, there is a shattering car wreck in which apparently no one was injured. . . . An alarm clock that ticked away underground . . . A client on trial for murder who wouldn't even talk to Mr. Mason . . . A blood stained bullet . . . A photographer who could make a camera do everything but climb a tree, and a few others. It is a swift moving yarn and a good one.

William Irish has compiled five short mysteries into a volume and has titled it "I Wouldn't Be in Your Shoes." And take it from the title, I wouldn't either. But if you wish a short story and a mystery to boot to read just before dropping off to sleep, this book is your wish, with added intrigue and hair-raising thrills.

Those of you who really and truly enjoy mysteries, without question, never let Mignon G. Eberhart's stories go by the way side. "The Man Next Door," her latest, is but another compliment to her already large and excellent list of mystery publications. This book is a story of war-time Washington, dealing with spies and saboteurs who infest the national capital. Miss Eberhart cleverly weaves romance into her murders, doesn't she? This one is no exception—in fact the romance thread in this book is the thread that sews the whole tale together.

Mabel Seeley's "Eleven Came Back" has as its locale the Grand Tetons of Wyoming. With them as the background she has set the story of Martha and Dane Chapple and their struggle with a power-mad woman. This author's skill in characterization and in creating dramatic situations and backgrounds makes this book the best mystery novel of the season.

And now, last but never least, Craig Rice's "The Sunday Pigeon Murders" makes its appearance. This is the story of Bingo Riggs and Handsome Kusak, partners in the International Foto, Motion Picture and Television Corporation of America. In this book the author introduces two new characters and I feel certain when you have become acquainted with them you will say that they are the two best mystery characters yet.

Karloff in Person In San Jose May 28

"Arsenic and Old Lace," starring Boris Karloff in person, with Josephine Hull, Jean Adair and the original cast, is routed into San Jose for a single performance at the civic auditorium on Friday evening, May 28, through the efforts of the Denny-Watrous management.

This "screamingly funny" murder-mystery comedy, that has been top entertainment on Broadway for two years, depicts the fantastic story of two sweet, refined elderly spinsters, who run a "refined boarding house" on an elm-shaded street in Brooklyn. What the Misses Brewster do as they serve rare old wine to their gentlemen clients, and the staggering total of fatalities, has to be seen to be believed.

Tickets for "Arsenic and Old Lace" are on sale at the auditorium box office, Columbia 7087.

Reading on Mother's Day by Mrs. Nellie Skillman.

Songs sung by Dennis Bennett "Fisherman of England" and "The Three Fishers," accompanied by Mrs. Virginia Rutherford.

A very interesting illustrated lecture by Rev. J. H. Bennett on the deep sea fishing industry in England and the part he played as a clergyman traveling with the fleet was greatly enjoyed.

Presentation of the service flag to the Grange was made by Mrs. Nellie Rutherford. It contains 15 stars representing brothers, sons and grandsons of Grange members who have gone into service.

Takes Broad Detour

Ancient caravan trails, some modernized and capable now of handling truck traffic, are the only means of ground transportation from Lake Chad to the northern war theater. Of these, two routes stand out on the map. One (more than 2,000 miles long) makes a broad detour through the Chad colony of French Equatorial Africa, turning westward finally to join a road that cuts across eastern Libya all the way to the Mediterranean port of Bengasi. The other (the one which runs from the northwest shore of Lake Chad to Tripoli) passes through French West Africa and western Libya.

Cuttings Leave After Short Visit

Theodore (Teddy) Cutting and his wife, who have been spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Cutting, are leaving today for Denver, Colo.

Quite unexpectedly Cutting was sent to escort a group of students from the medical training school at Denver to Fort Ord, and was granted a six-day furlough. Mrs. Cutting who had been nursing at the Camarilla, Calif., hospital had resigned and was just leaving for Denver, so changed her route to Campbell to meet her husband here.

Teddy is one of the faculty of the School for the Medical Service Force of Enlisted Technicians, and he and his wife will make their home in Denver.

P.-T. A. Units To Hold Joint Session

Campbell High school and Campbell Grammar school P.-T. A.'s will hold a joint meeting Wednesday, May 17 at 2:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

A special musical program will be presented by the a capella choir of the high school and instrumental numbers by the grammar school orchestra.

Chalmers R. Donaldson of Los Gatos will give an educational demonstration of Guide Dogs for the Blind. This education is two-fold, training the dog and training the blind person to use the dog. The public is cordially invited to this interesting program.

Mr. Chalmers gave a demonstration last fall for the Kiwanis club which they found very interesting.

Stentorian Voice

Stentor, a native of early Greece, was said to have a voice as loud as that of 50 men, and the word "stentorian" derives from him.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

From the Campus Echo

Prom to Bring Al Davina June 4

Juniors talk constantly about plans for the prom, but so far the only real news that has leaked out about it is that Al Davina's orchestra, popular civic auditorium musicians, will be here with a complete program of danceable numbers.

The theme, too, has gradually leaked out until practically everyone at Campbell High can tell you that it's "Magnolias and Moonlight."

With the month of May flying by, June 4 and the prom are just around the corner, and both seniors and juniors have already spent much of their spare time discussing formals, programs, refreshments, the sophomore servers, and all the things that make the prom a social event of outstanding beauty. That the prom will be held at night this year was good news for all.

Connie Dondero and Chuck Pettis head the main committee on plans for the affair. Serving under them are the following committee chairmen: Dennise Bushnell, decorations; Elizabeth Peterson, refreshments; Keith Wilson, clean-up; Eva Allison, registration; Elsie Furtado, programs; and Gloria Orsi, music.

TB Tests Given To High Students

Mrs. Alfreda Runge, school nurse, stated this week that about 75 per cent of the students here took the T. B. test. Of the 408 who took it, only 12 had positive reactions, and these students had their x-rays taken May 6 or 7.

Nurses and the doctor, who came over from the city health office were Miss Goodenough, Mrs. Brianes and Dr. Turner.

In Mrs. Runge's opinion the T. B. skin test is one of the most important tests offered by the school. "All high school age students should have this test," she said, "because at this age they are most likely to come in contact with the disease."

Jack Farnham Chosen To Head Future Farmers

Jack Farnham was elected president of the F. F. A. when the farmers met in the agriculture room at noon May 4.

Others chosen to serve on the executive committee were David Keesling, vice-president; Bill Shambaugh, secretary; and Richard Savoni, reporter. Freshmen of the organization will be initiated soon.

Supply Commission Is Being Organized

The new supply commission, brought into being by student vote last week, is being organized under the direction of Charles Cothran, commissioner. The purpose of the new organization is to keep all student owned equipment from being damaged, lost or stolen. Miss Ruth Eales is faculty adviser to the commission.

Work of the group includes the cleaning of all equipment such as football uniforms, band and majorette costumes, and many other articles. The equipment will be issued at the beginning of the semester and when not in use, will be checked back to the commissioner.

This commission is needed more than ever right now, according to Miss Eales, since new equipment is so hard to get. "It's a hard job, but with a little work and good cooperation, it is bound to be successful," Miss Eales indicated.

Students to Vote On Council Nominees

Ballot will be marked tomorrow to determine who will be candidates for Campbell High's next student council.

Those whose names will appear on the ballot will be Alice Ann Cooney, Linda Cuciz, Elizabeth Peterson, Charles Cothran, Elwood De Vilbis, Larry Cowper, Alison Yeager, Marvin Bolei, Frank Dinapoli, and Chester Linden.

Last All-School Dance To be Held May 21

The last all-school dance of the year will be held on Friday, May 21, according to Elizabeth Peterson, commissioner of social affairs.

"No special theme will be used for the dance, but the fact that this will be the last time all students may get together this term will bring a crowd—we hope," Elizabeth said.

Testaments Wanted For Service Men

A drive to procure Testaments for our service men, to start next Wednesday and continue through May 26 was announced by the Campbell High Bible club this week.

The club, just organized, is undertaking to help the Gideons, a national organization, for distributing Bibles and Testaments and it will help to fulfill a request from the U. S. government to place a testament in each life raft and lifeboat and in each service man's hands if he wishes one.

Containers for receiving contributions will be placed in convenient places throughout the school along with a soldier's testament for display.

United Nations Day Is Big Success

Campbell had a fine turn-out of costumes for United Nations Day, held April 30, the day culminating in the dance, where Principal W. H. Van Dyke awarded the prizes.

First prize went to Athena Changras for her authentic Greek soldier costume. Second prize was awarded to Anthony Sorci for his impersonation of a South African head hunter. Bob Magnuson camouflaged himself as a commando and won third prize. Others who received prizes ranging from one dollar's worth of defense stamps down were Martha Muller, Anthony Vicari, Kerlin Morgan, Al Miranda, Beulah Garcia, Donald Neff, and Paul Stone.

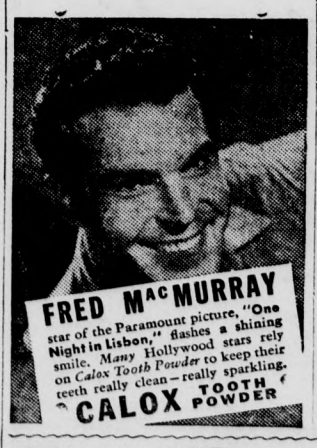

Honorable mention and ten-cent stamps went to Bell Fehl, Marie Hayes, Betty Parsons, Ann Nichols, Dan Clark, Don Smith Jean Bocca, Ed Tressler, Elwood DeVilbiss, Richard Hitchcock, James Ornellas, Marceline Benech, Bill Willson, Charles Savstrom, Conrad Smith and Betty Lopez.

The teachers fell into the spirit of the day, too. Some of them who attracted attention were Miss Helen Nielsen, who appeared as a charming Scandinavian; L. M. McQuesten, "One Wing Low," Chinese aviator; Miss Ruth Eales, a gypsy; Miss Frances Parks, a Dutch Boy; and D. H. Cramer, a Scotch Highlander.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

ALL CLEAR!

Tojo and Hitler won't like this. ELECTRIC POWER for the building of ships, the making of munitions of war and the production of food for the United Nations, flows unceasingly from our scores of generators in the high mountains. Fighting winter's snow and sleet, wind and rain, our patrols have kept the high voltage lines open and operating. It's their way of beating the Japs and the Huns. They're good soldiers, these seasoned, toughened, expert linemen.

The P·G·and·E· Army

Twelve thousand strong, the men and women employees of this company are carrying on. More than 2100 of their fellow workers already have gone into military service. Those that remain know the serious importance of their task. They know that maintaining unbroken service of gas and electricity to the war industries strengthens the hands of MacArthur in the South Pacific and Eisenhower in North Africa. These utility workers, each one doing his bit of the multitude of prosaic jobs involved in efficient delivery of electric power and fuel gas, are making a magnificent record of accomplishment. They are an army in themselves, always attacking, always on duty. We are proud of them.

Electric Power When and Where Needed

"Long before Pearl Harbor, the Company began its preparations for meeting the anticipated requirements of the nation's rearmament program. We have been able at all times to meet promptly and fully, with an adequate margin for contingencies, the maximum simultaneous demands of almost a million electric customers. The peak power demand during 1942 was about 250,000 horsepower higher than the 1940 maximum, but in the intervening period more than 300,000 horsepower was added to our system through the construction of new plants or under contracts with other producers. We will add another 300,000 horsepower of capacity during 1943 . . . We are doing our utmost to serve our country's war effort."
